

J. M'HENRY JONES.

Wheeling's Colored Orator and Educator in England.

ADDRESS TO THE ODD FELLOWS

Of that Country as Fraternal Delegate From America—An Eloquent Deliverance Chaired to the Echo—He Talks About what the Colored Race has Accomplished for Itself in the United States Since Freed From Slavery.

Following is an abstract of the address delivered by Professor J. McHenry Jones, of Wheeling, at Bolton, England, June 8. Professor Jones is fraternal delegate of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows in America to the English A. M. C., in session at Bolton. He was received with great demonstration of friendliness and was frequently interrupted by applause.

Worthy Grand Master, Officers and Delegates:—Your brothers from beyond the deep and rolling ocean, plighting their vows at the same altar, drinking from the same perennial stream at the fountain of Friendship, warmed by the influences emanating from the glowing coals on the altar of Love and worshiping at the shrine of Truth, with increasing affection, send fraternal greetings and good will to the mother A. M. C., in England.

Having for years attempted to make known, through correspondence, the love and gratitude the Order in America cherishes toward you, I have been sent to emphasize and in a measure give voice to the enduring nature of those sentiments. It has been now more than half a century since a few noble men of our race, despised, out-lawed and virtually expatriated, turned their discouraged faces toward this God-blessed land. It was with feelings of mingled hope and fear that these determined, righteous men made their appeal to the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows.

Rising above the littleness of caste, too great to mean, the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows welcomed our brethren into the family of mankind. Holding aloft the torch of Truth, the order in England declared: "Fraternity is an ocean which washes the shores of every country, and its influence can be bounded only by the jutting crags of eternity." Fifty years ago, Peter Ogden came pleading the virtues of a covenant in the name of the widows and orphans of our brotherhood. I come to thank you that his story was believed. He came bearing the petition of the oppressed, I come to offer the homage of the free. Over him hung the raven-wing of doubt; above him expanded the rainbow of eternal promise. He came from the night in search of booty; I come clothed with the morning, expecting the noonday. Like a dove, bearing the olive branch, Peter Ogden returned to the long-neglected ark, beneath whose roof our fathers impatiently waited; I bring back the much cherished emblem of peace and with a full heart and open hands present the greetings of 100,000 black Odd Fellows, whose lives have been inspired and manhood strengthened by its significant teachings. It would not be amiss on this auspicious occasion, to turn on their golden hinges the sliding leaves of the past and make manifest to the eyes of our countrymen the progress of the years that have flown.

"This great world to talk with your past hours. And ask them what report they have borne to heaven. And how they might have borne more welcome news." What a change has come over the world since our fathers gathered first around the sacred altar and pledged their fidelity to the principles of our order! What a breadth of years unrolled by the events which have crowded into history since that act which must ever endure their memories to their race. The world has lived a thousand years since then, so rapidly has progress trodden upon the heels of time. In 1843, Bismarck was unknown, Gladstone, the grand old English gentleman, winning his spurs as a statesman, Lincoln, a name sufficiently illustrious to illuminate any age, was a country lawyer, Grant was at West Point at the foot of his class. It was the darkest hour for my people in American history. Every device that hate could suggest, every contrive or oppression execute, fell unchecked, upon the bowed backs of the poor forsaken negro. The return of Peter Ogden, therefore, triumphantly bearing the charter of English recognition, was like a ray of light from a midnight sky. In 1843, without property, without the moral support of the community, without anything save our faith in God and hope for a better day, we organized the first lodge. A decade after the institution of the order in America, our number had grown to 1,482. We now number nearly 160,000. We have expended over $250,000 in educational, benevolent, and charitable work, and paid for funerals, $96,400; and after the expenditure of this large sum—aggregating $325,183 54, we still have invested in funds and securities $1,897,159. We have subordinate lodges in thirty-nine states, four territories, the District of Columbia, West Indies, Canada, Hayti, South America and Africa. Our grand masters' councils number 182. Our women also, have joined with us in pushing forward the victories of our most humane institution.

Experience has fully demonstrated that the union of man's strength and vigor, with woman's faith and sympathy, in a friendly society, is an act of the highest wisdom. Nowhere has this fact been more satisfactorily exemplified than in the organization of the Household of Ruth. Side by side with the brethren our sisters, 30,000 strong, are dedicating their services to the sacred cause of practical charity. Nor are they satisfied to move along in the beaten path, but with a more enlightened conception of their needs, they are proposing and organizing new departments in keeping with the progressive lines of their development.

In the absolute equality of men. Before liberty, equality and fraternity became once. Wherever sorrow lifts its mournful head or want unbidden lurks there the influence of our noble order will make its appearance, and when our weak efforts are forgotten and those that followed us shall have suffered the fate, when the hearts of England and America, twin sisters, in the forefront of destiny shall have fallen for want of defenders, the principles which we teach, will live on; breathed upon new tongues, articulated under new skies until the great Father of the universe shall the rallying cry of oppressed humanity; these truths are taught and widely practiced among Odd Fellows, Justice and Charity, Friendship and Truth bear the same interpretation, and kindle the same enthusiasm in America as in England. Liberty, founded upon Justice, Charity, tempered with fraternity, equally based upon merit share a large place in the teachings of our order. The high-water mark among the masses of our people, Young men of the better social standing cultivation and worth as well as their white haired sires, the solid men among us, have linked their fortunes with our brotherhood. The progress of the American negro during the past generation finds no parallel in the history of the world. Whatever our enemies may say, facts are more convincing than theories and truth is stranger than fiction. At the close of the war of the rebellion, the freedmen were the poorest people on the face of the earth. We had no home, no roof to shelter us from the insupportable storm—nothing save the blue sky and friendly sunshine by day, the unsmiling stars by night. We were homeless, homeless wanderers upon the face of the earth. The negro had no family to strengthen and encourage him; family ties were largely denied him by the circumstances of his most agonizing past. He was void of household goods or sacred memories to hold him in a steady course. We had nothing but willing hands, honest hearts and unshaken trust in God. Under such circumstances, to have established a home and gathered under a common family tree, in a generation but a few years, is a remarkable accomplishment of history. To our credit we have done this and more. In a generation we have accumulated and pay taxes on $400,000,000 worth of real estate. We own and operate a street car railway in Arkansas. We own $62,000 worth of shipping, $102,000 worth of hardware, five daily and weekly newspapers. In one state alone, we own $90,000 acres of land.

Small indeed are these figures when compared with the aggregated wealth of our great country, but worthy of consideration, when it is remembered that under circumstances not the most favorable, we have accomplished so much in a brief time. Our material property is by no means our proudest monument. Our mental advancement has surpassed our material advancement. In a quarter of a century over 3,500,000 of our race have learned to read and write. We have acquired and control 18 colleges, 23 academies, 61 high schools and seminaries. We have more than 30,000 teachers in the public schools, 33 painters of merited reputation, 16 sculptors, 2,000 physicians, 295 dentists, 3,000 lawyers, 2,800 R. D. ministers, 540 telegraph operators, 30,000 skilled workmen of all sorts and conditions, 1,468 engineers, 1,500 captains and pilots of vessels, 2,970 mechanics and sawyers, 8,000 printers.

This work of educating and uplifting the masses has been largely done by our own people. Circumstances have compelled us to uplift ourselves. Where in the annals of mankind can be found another example of a race rising to the sublime stature of intelligence and goodly capital by the aid of its own power. We have been largely our own teachers. We would not detract from the help given us by the church, nor the noble self-sacrificing men and women who have suffered ostracism and contempt in order that they might devote their energies to the cause of the despised, but the fact remains, that the great work of elevating our people, has come from within. We have made bricks, gathering our own straw. We do not complain; the exertion has been helpful rather than enervating. Circumstances have taught us self reliance. We only beg for our schools and churches, bread for our mind, sorrows are not altogether obliterated, still our star of manhood continues to ascend. Reformation goes not backward. If a race has left the first apathy of ignorance when it longs to shake off the darkness of the past, then are we in the whirl of advancing time and keeping step with the music of progressive life. Trained in a school of misfortune, we hopefully, fearlessly face the future. Our past sorrows were providential. Through the fiery clouds of suffering can be dimly outlined the pulsant hand of God. These facts may be provable, but they lead to a broad generalization. If the order has been able to grow under circumstances so forbidding, what must be the future under brighter skies and more inviting prospects? It is a pleasure to report that the night is passing and faint streaks of the incoming light, soften the threatening sky, with prophetic gleams of a better day. Here and there, as the great day steals nobly upon us, a flickering bonfire, or an illegal lynching flashes out, proof that Error dies hard.

By the heart throbs that beat in union, by the mutual sorrows of the past, by the frequent touches of nature that make the whole world kin, we are nearing a better understanding. It is coming, by the way of the schoolhouse scattering enlightenment; by the way of church disseminating a purer conception of the Holy Christ. Just as the hatred engendered between the two sections of our country, by war, is disappearing as distance from it recedes, so we believe that the appetites between nations must yield to the better influences which time alone will produce. We have faith to look into the frowning face of blackest night for the rosy hues of coming morning; faith to believe that through the threatening clouds that have so long overshadowed us, will break the golden light of new day. We pray for the prosperity of England, our people, to a man, hope that the friendly feeling, so long existing between England and the United States may continue to strengthen as the years roll by. We cherish the hope that never again the two nations bound by a common literature, seeking the same high destiny, the nestors and promulgators of civil and religious liberty—we hope, nay, we demand that nations so united by a community of interests, shall always find some means to settle their differences without an appeal to arms.

Next to the border of the wave of fraternity which must ultimately sweep our land. We increased our membership 13,000 during the last year, and still there are more to follow. The principles which we teach and practice are destined to live forever. No climate nor country can limit their influence.

CALIFORNIA'S SHAKE

The Late Seismic Disturbances were Severe Throughout the State.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Late reports regarding the earthquake show that it was quite severe at Salinas, the county seat of Monterey county. The mere prominent buildings damaged are the armory of Troop C, which had its walls badly cracked and parted, the Nance building in process of construction, which will have to be taken down and the Farmer's union building. The latter had an old crack in the front opened four inches for a length of several feet, and is three inches wide. In the interior of the latter building bricks fell and the plastering was damaged. The Salinas hotel, the Jeffrey, Abbott and Bardine's house all suffered more or less, windows being broken and walls cracked. In the leading merchandise houses large plate glass windows were broken. On the residence streets chimneys were thrown down and windows smashed. The postoffice building was cracked on its front. Public halls were injured to a great extent. The city hall has been seriously injured in plaster, and the court house has suffered.

The old brick Salinas hotel was cracked across the top. There were over seventy-five windows broken in the Baldwin house and over half the rooms the walls are cracked. At Graves' Switch more houses were ruined and the huge water tank almost emptied of its contents. A section of adobe wall in the mission churches of San Carlos, in Monterey, tumbled in on the congregation, and a panic almost resulted. Congress and a panic almost resulted. Congress and a panic almost resulted. Congress and a panic almost resulted.

The Amalgamated Scale.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 21.—The iron scale conference of the Amalgamated Association and manufacturers has been fixed for June 30, at Youngstown, Ohio. Trouble is expected, as the Amalgamated Association will insist on the $1.50 puddling rate, while the manufacturers are opposed to paying more than $1.00. The sheet scale conference will be held in this city next Wednesday, the 23rd inst. It is thought that an agreement will be promptly reached.

WHAT IS THIS DISEASE CALLED DYSPEPSIA?

Like a thief at night, it steals in upon us unawares. The patient has pains about the chest and sides, and sometimes in the back. They feel dull and sleepy; the mouth has a bad taste, especially in the morning. A sort of sticky slime coats the tongue. There is feeling like a heavy load on the stomach; sometimes a faint, all-gone sensation at the pit of the stomach which food does not satisfy. Eyes are sunken, the hands and feet become cold and feel clammy. After a while a cough comes on, at first dry, but after a few months it is attended with a greenish colored expectoration. The patient feels tired all the while, and sleep does not seem to afford any rest. After a time he becomes nervous, irritable and gloomy, and has evil forebodings. There is a giddiness, a sort of whirling sensation in the head when rising up suddenly. The bowels become constive; the skin is dry and hot at times; the blood becomes thick and stagnant; the whites of the eyes become tinged with yellow; the urine is scanty and high colored, depositing a sediment after standing. There is frequently a spitting up of food, sometimes with a sour taste; this is frequently attended with palpitation of the heart; the vision becomes impaired; the appetite is lost; there is a feeling of great prostration and weakness. All of these symptoms are in turn present. It is thought nearly one-third of our population has this disease in some of its varied forms. It has been found that medical men have mistaken the nature of this disease. Some have treated it for a Liver complaint, some for Dyspepsia, some for Kidney Disease, etc., etc., but one of the various kinds of treatment have been attended with success. Now, the Shaker Digestive Cordial causes the food eaten to be digested. This will cause an appetite for more food, and this being digested will result in an increase of strength, and increased flow of the red blood of nerve power. The tired, weary feeling will give way to vigor and courage. The pale, thin and emaciated will recover their color and plumpness, because red blood and fat are the result of properly digested food. A ten cent trial bottle will produce a result. Its good effect will be realized at once. You will be able to take the way to find out if it is doing you any good. Try it, and then give praise to the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, New York, for the relief that you obtain.

AMERICANS ON TOP.

They will Have the Best of It During Jubilee Week.

FUNCTIONS IN THEIR HONOR

Given by Their English Friends, Consisting of Dinners, Receptions and Balls. Astor Publishes a Jubilee Edition of Excerpts from His Paper, the Pall Mall Gazette—He is Preparing to Entertain Royalty in Grand Style—Other Americans Who will Dispense Lavish Hospitality.

LONDON, June 21.—The Americans will have all the best of it during the Jubilee week as they will enjoy the hospitality of their English friends, and receive their attentions after the tumult is over. Preparations are being made to exhaust all the possible resources. Dinners, receptions, balls and afternoon teas will follow each other in quick succession, interspersed here and there, when the weather permits, with garden parties and river trips.

William Waldorf Astor has already set the ball rolling by entertaining the masses before he receives the aristocracy. He has published a jubilee edition of Excerpts from His Paper, the Pall Mall Gazette, for one penny, against six penny and other shilling charges by the other newspapers. He has done this, without any hope of possible gain, as there is no chance of profit accruing from it. In addition he will receive royalty and any distinguished foreign visitors in finished style at his town mansion.

Carlton House Terrace will have its doors open wide all this week, while three special functions will occur during the week following: Mrs. Mackay, one of London's greatest American hostesses will remain secluded in strict mourning. Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, formerly Miss Endicott, will be one of the foremost American entertainers. Her house, once the mansion of the late Sir Julian Goldsmith, has been brilliantly decorated and will be the scene of several elaborate balls, the first of which occurs on the 24th. It promises to equal, if not eclipse, that of the Duchess of Westminster, which precedes it on the 25th. Mrs. Ogden Goelet, whose dinner for the Prince of Wales at Wimbborne House, was pronounced the successful success of the season, will repeat the affair on a still more gorgeous scale. Long rows of German kings and Russian princes will fill her spacious corridors and listen to prominent operatic artists free of charge, for carriage hire, even, is being provided for them by the British government whose generosity has been excited by the occasion of the jubilee. The Duchess of Marlborough will entertain very little. It is said, however, that Spencer House will be open to her intimate friends in the week following the jubilee. In the meantime it is said in some quarters that she will wait in the country until the first outburst of royal turmoil has subsided.

Mrs. Eugene Kelly has taken a house in St. James Square. It is her first season as a full-fledged hostess in London society, and she has signalized it by having her residence adorned by perhaps the most startling illuminations of any private dwelling in the city. At night it is one blaze of colored lights in which the initials "E. K." are most conspicuous. Strange to say there is not the slightest vestige of any American device in the whole set of decorations. Most of the other Americans sport the stars and stripes conspicuously.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gould are at present at the Savoy Hotel. They have not yet succeeded in getting a suitable house in London, and they are not to be behind in sociability. George Vanderbilt is living very quietly at Long's hotel. He has one of the highest priced seats for the parade and will be a guest at some of the affairs of Mrs. Goelet and Mrs. Chamberlain. Beyond that he will do little but drive daily in the park.

MR. ISAAC HORNER, proprietor of the Barm House, Burton, W. Va., and one of the most widely known men in the state, was cured of rheumatism after three years of suffering. He says: "I have not sufficient command of language to convey any idea of what I suffered, my physicians told me that nothing could be done for me and that I was never fully convinced that nothing but death would relieve me of my suffering. In June, 1884, Mr. Eves, then salesman for the Wheeling Drug Company, recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm. At this time my foot and limb were swollen to such an extent that I could not walk. After using Chamberlain's Pain Balm the swelling began to decrease, the pain to leave, and now I consider that I am entirely cured. For sale by druggists.

All pains banished by Dr. Miller's Pain Pills.

MRS. CURTIS, NEW YORK.

Tells Her Experience With Ovaritis.

A dull, throbbing pain, accompanied by a sense of tenderness and heat low down in the side, with an occasional shooting pain, indicates inflammation. On examination it will be found that the region of pain shows some swelling. This is the first stage of ovaritis, inflammation of the ovary. If the roof of your house leaks, my sister, you have it fixed at once; why not pay the same respect to your own body? Do you live miles away from a doctor? Then that is all the more reason why you should attend to yourself at once, or you will soon be on the flat of your back.

You need not, you ought not, to let yourself go, when one of your own sex holds out the helping hand to you, and will advise you without money and without price. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and tell her all your symptoms. Her experience in treating female ailments greater than any other living person. Following is proof of what we say: "For nine years I suffered with female weakness in its worst form. I was in bed nearly a year with congestion of the ovaries. I also suffered with falling of the womb, was very weak, tired all the time, had such headaches as to make me almost wild. Was also troubled with leucorrhoea, and was bloated so badly that some thought I had dropsy. I have taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and several of her Blood Purifier, and am completely cured. It is a wonder to all that I got well. I shall always owe Mrs. Pinkham a debt of gratitude for her kindness. I would advise all who suffer to take her medicine."—MRS. ANNIE CURTIS, Ticonderoga, N. Y.
